

When you're deeply ingrained in the community, community service doesn't feel like an obligation, it's simply neighbors helping neighbors. Jackson Kelly has a long-standing practice of supporting the communities in which our employees live and work. The Firm supports and encourages our employees to participate in causes they are passionate about, whether through volunteering, serving on a board or committee, or sponsoring an event.

Jackson Kelly takes a great deal of pride in the Jackson Kelly Education Elevators Program (JKEEP), a program the Firm founded in 2008. JKEEP is a mentoring program the Firm developed in partnership with Piedmont Elementary School in Charleston, West Virginia, where mentors, known as "Elevators", are matched with students from the school. The Elevators meet with their students once a week and let the students' interests guide their interactions. The goal of the program is to provide one-on-one attention to students at an early age and inspire self-confidence. Jackson Kelly employees form close bonds with the students and often remark that the visits are the highlight of their week.

Jackson Kelly's Charleston office participated in "Bags of Blessings". The entire organization was able to donate 350 bags that included toys and more. JK was happy to help be a part of this wonderful drive.

Once again, our Attorneys and staff have stepped up! We are excited to announce that the total monetary contribution to the United Way of Central WV by the Jackson Kelly Charleston office is $45,700! Along with this donation, we collected more than 250 items including hats, gloves, scarves, coats, hoodies, hot hands, and earmuffs. A great job by everyone on our team. Thank you!

Giving doesn't always have to be attached to a monetary value. On this day, we gave our time (and a few treats and prizes) to some wonderful residents at a local nursing home. Everyone enjoyed an afternoon of singing songs with our own "Santa Ross and his guitar", playing lots of Bingo games, and taking a few "selfies" with the residents in between. Be on the lookout for upcoming projects being organized by the Community Service Committee. We hope that you will participate in one of the events and help us make a difference in our community!
